

CDS Visit Report

Name of CDS : Udayagiri
District : Tumkur

Udayagiri is a hilly area (Anglo-Indian) located about 55 km from Tumkur. It is a CDS station. The area is mostly hilly and has a population of about 1000. There are some schools and a hospital. The area is under the control of the CDS. The area is mostly hilly and has a population of about 1000. There are some schools and a hospital. The area is under the control of the CDS. The area is mostly hilly and has a population of about 1000. There are some schools and a hospital. The area is under the control of the CDS.

General observations

- CDS is located in a hilly area.
- There are some schools and a hospital.
- The area is under the control of the CDS.

The area is mostly hilly and has a population of about 1000. There are some schools and a hospital. The area is under the control of the CDS. The area is mostly hilly and has a population of about 1000. There are some schools and a hospital. The area is under the control of the CDS.

... ..

→

→

...

→

...

Suggestions

→

→

→

→

→